

jected to a pressure of two thousand tons in a hydraulic press. Next, the sheets are so cut that each one contains one hundred stamps, after which the paper between the stamps is perforated; and, after being pressed, the sheets are filed away. If a single stamp is injured, the whole sheet is burned.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

—Samuel Colgate, head of the great soap and perfumery house of Colgate & Co., died at Orange, N. J., April 23. He was born in 1822, and was a devoted Baptist, giving largely to his church and to other benevolent objects.

—Queen Elizabeth was the owner of a ring, a plain gold circle with a silver penny used for an ornament. On this penny were executed, in a miniature hand, the Lord's prayer, the Creed, the Decalog, with two short prayers in Latin, a name, motto, day of the month, year of the Lord, and reign of the queen. Peter Bales executed the work on the penny. The writing was so plain as to be easily legible to the naked eye.

—The dedication of the Grant tomb, in Riverside Park, New York, was attended with ceremonies having national interest and significance. It was estimated that fully one million strangers were in the city, drawn thither by the dedicatory exercises. President McKinley, General Porter, and Mayor Strong made addresses. Mrs. Grant was not able to be present, by reason of age and illness. Many distinguished people were present and joined in the tribute of honor to the great soldier-statesman.—Religious Telescope.

—Mrs. U. S. Grant has written a book in which she describes the home life of General Grant. One of the most interesting chapters will be the history of the last days of the civil war, during which time General Grant was such a conspicuous figure. She will give some of the conversations which took place between her and her husband at time, when the whole country was in the throes of civil war. Life at the White House during the eight years while Grant was President of the United States, and an account of their tour around the world, will be other interesting features of the book. Mrs. Grant has been collecting the matter for the book for several years. It was written, she says, entirely for her own pleasure, and for the use and information of her children. She has not yet decided on a title.—Religious Telescope.

CATARRH CANNOT BE CURED

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.
